

My work in animal communications began many years ago before I was even aware of exactly what Animal Communication was all about. Studying and working along side of Anita Curtis has been an opportunity and privilege of a lifetime and I remain ever-grateful for all that my dear friend has taught me and brought into my life.

Eight years ago, I began my Communications business and I am now internationally known and have clients in just about every state of the USA. My services include private consults ranging from general well-being questions to end of earth life transitions, as well as after life consults with beloved animal friends. I also work with lost and traumatized pets and have an approximate 70% average rate of pets returned to their loving homes. Emergency appointments are also available.

Reiki (pronounced Ray-Key) is also an important adjunct to my Communications work and I do a large amount of remote and on-site animal Reiki. The healing & calming properties of Reiki bolster my communications work and I find it an invaluable tool that my animal and human clients respond to.

If you have ever been curious about what your pet is really thinking, wonder no more! Please contact me for your private consultation. All clients are handled with confidentiality and professionalism.
